

Stepdad Doge

White Paper Version 1.0

Disclaimer

Stepdad Doge is owned by Lame Duck Studios. Stepdad Doge is not affiliated with Dogecoin or other “Doge” projects such as WIFEDOGE or Baby Doge, unless otherwise specified in this white paper. Stepdad Doge is not a financial service. It is not licensed, unlicensed or backed by a financial institution or stable asset. Stepdad Doge is a utility token; it is not a security, e-money, fiat money, or other money. This white paper is not a contract, solicitation, or promise of profit. Stepdad Doge does not take responsibility for investors, investor’s assets, or market stability. All investors into Stepdad Doge do so at their own risk.

About

Introduction

Stepdad Doge was created on September 18th, 2021, by Ron, and his spritual assistants Markus, who coined the name, and Becca, who helped with the concept art and design.

The project is currently owned by Lame Duck Studios, with Ron as its primary advocate, voice, and maintaner.

General

Stepdad Doge is a BEP20 token built on the fast and reliable Binance Smart Chain.

Project

Stepdad Doge is intended as a utility token. The more uses for it, the greater its extrensic value.

WooCommerce is our first goal!

Tokenomics

Supply

Stepdad Doge has a hard cap of 1 trillion (1,000,000,000,000) tokens. No more will be minted, none will be burned (exception).

Exception: We reserve the right to mint or burn tokens to maintain the hard cap. If tokens are lost to unused or dead wallets, more will be minted. If through such action we find that the hard cap is exceeded, the extra tokens will be burned to compensate.

Rewards

Stepdad Doge holders will receive 3% of each transaction.

Fees

Stepdad Doge imparts a 4% transaction fee, this ensures tokens will always be in supply.

Tokenomics

Liquidity

Stepdad Doge liquidity is funded by NFT and merch sales. 50% of all sales go into a locked liquidity address. The rest of our liquidity is provided by our generous community.

Slippage

Stepdad Doge recommends a slippage of at least 10% to account for the 3% rewards, 4% fee, and network fees beyond our control.

Distribution

- Available Supply
- Founders
- Giveaways / Events / Advertising

